Additional announcements will be forthcoming as personnel decisions are finalized. We are looking forward to assembling a world-class team and continuing to build the best offshore drilling company in the world.

New Organizational Structure

Post-merger, Ensco will be organized and managed along the following geographical regions:

- North and South America (ex. Brazil) — “NSA”
- Brazil — “BRZ”
- Europe and the Mediterranean — “EUM”
- Middle East and Africa — “MEA”
- Asia and Pacific Rim — “APR”

NSA and BRZ will report to Mark Burns, Senior Vice President — Western Hemisphere. EUM, MEA, and APR will report to Carey Lowe, Senior Vice President — Eastern Hemisphere. The management of these business units will be communicated to Ensco and Pride within the next week.

SEC Reporting Structure Determined

Financial reporting segments for the newly-combined company were determined and will be structured around water depth as follows:

- Deepwater
- Midwater
- Jackups

Our SEC filings will reflect this new reporting structure beginning with our first quarterly filing post-merger.

New Rig Names

The EMC decided that the Pride fleet will be renamed consistent with the Ensco rig-naming protocol based on a numbering system. The new names of the rigs in the Pride fleet are shown on the attachment and will be effective immediately for internal purposes upon closing of the merger.

Functional Integration Leadership Meetings

Finally, meetings were held in Dallas last week for the Functional Integration Leaders (FILs) to report on "Preliminary Observations & 100 Day Priorities." Specifically, the teams identified key similarities and differences between the respective Pride and Ensco functions, integration opportunities and challenges, and key actions and changes that need to take place between now and 100 days after the merger closing in order to ensure a smooth transition and business continuity.

The FILs put tremendous energy and effort into understanding each company's processes, procedures, culture, etc., and identifying critical issues and interdependencies. As a result, the meetings were exceptionally productive and provided a solid foundation for the ongoing success of our integration efforts. More importantly, the FILs continue to maintain focus on our highest priorities — safety, operational excellence, and exceeding our customers' expectations.
