Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Cleveland-Cliffs Inc published a news release on January 11, 2005 as follows:

12 January 2005

CLEVELAND-CLIFFS AND PORTMAN ANNOUNCE AGREED OFFER FOR PORTMAN

Perth, Australia 12 January, 2005 and Cleveland, USA — Cleveland-Cliffs Inc (NYSE:CLF) the largest producer of high-quality iron ore pellets in North America and Portman Limited (ASX: PMM), an Australian listed independent iron ore mining and exploration company, announce that Cleveland-Cliffs (through its wholly owned subsidiary Cleveland-Cliffs Australia Pty Ltd) intends to make an off market cash takeover offer for all of the shares in Portman. Cleveland-Cliffs will also seek to acquire all the Portman unlisted options on issue.

The offer has the unanimous support of the Portman board and, in the absence of a superior offer, the Portman board will be recommending that Portman shareholders accept the offer.

All the Portman directors have indicated that in the absence of a superior offer they intend to accept the offer with respect to their own shareholdings.

THE OFFER FROM CLEVELAND-CLIFFS

The consideration offered to Portman shareholders will be A$3.40 cash per ordinary share valuing Portman at approximately A$605 million (US$465 million at an exchange rate of A$1 = US$0.77). Separate to the share offer, Cleveland-Cliffs plans to enter into individual agreements with each option holder to cancel their options in consideration for the payment of the net of the offer price of $A3.40 per share and the exercise price of the option.

The offer represents:

- a 43.9% premium to the volume weighted average price for the six months to 7 January 2005 (the last trading day before Portman requested a trading halt on 10 January 2005);
- a 25.2% premium to the volume weighted average price for the three months to 7 January;
- a 21.8% premium to the volume weighted average price for the month to 7 January 2005; and
- an 11.5% premium to the closing price of Portman shares on 7 January 2005.

Recent changes to stamp duty legislation in Western Australia have had the consequence that an acquirer of more than 90% of the shares in Portman is likely to have to pay duty of approximately 5.4%. For Cleveland-Cliffs, this will increase the cost of the acquisition by approximately A$28.3 million (some 16 cents per Portman share).

Cleveland-Cliffs' offer will be subject to 90% acceptance and a number of conditions as outlined in Annexure 3.

Portman has agreed to pay a break fee of 1% of the bid consideration if the board of Portman withdraws its recommendation of the bid in the absence of a superior competing offer or if a competing offeror acquires control of Portman (a more detailed explanation of the break fee arrangements is included in Annexure 3).

Commenting today, Mr John Brinzo, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Cleveland-Cliffs said:

"For Cleveland-Cliffs shareholders this transaction presents us with an opportunity to achieve one of our key strategic objectives of acquiring an established business in Australia from which to develop our global business, particularly into Asia."

"The offer represents Cleveland-Cliffs' optimistic view of the value of Portman's shares."

"For Portman shareholders, our offer provides an opportunity to realise the value of their Portman shareholdings at a time when the price fully reflects the recent surge in iron ore prices to a 10 year cyclical high."

Under the proposal, Portman shareholders would not bear any brokerage charges or stamp duty if they accept into the offer.

PORTMAN BOARD RECOMMENDATION

Commenting on the offer, Portman's Chairman, George Jones, said that the Portman board believes that Cleveland-Cliffs' offer is attractive and should be acceptable to Portman shareholders in the absence of a superior offer.

"The iron ore market is enjoying a buoyant period with producers and equity analysts optimistic that a material price increase will flow from the current round of iron ore price negotiations," Mr Jones said.

Given the potentially attractive short term pricing outcomes that may emerge from the current round of iron ore price negotiations, the Portman board, in determining whether the offer reflects fair value for Portman shareholders, gave consideration to a range of possible price outcomes both in the short term and in the longer term. In addition, in forming a view on fair value, the Portman board also took into account exchange rates, operational risks and opportunities that Portman faces, the exploration potential of its assets and the prospectivity of other growth options Portman would have as an independent company.

"While our analysis involved an assessment of the future based on uncertain outcomes, the Portman board concluded unanimously that, within a range of reasonable assumptions, the offer was fair," Mr Jones said.

The Portman board also considered the adequacy of the control premium that Cleveland-Cliffs is offering. At the offer price, many Portman shareholders will have enjoyed substantial capital gains of almost 150% during the last year.

This recent significant uplift in value combined with a number of other relevant factors led the board to conclude that the premium was acceptable. Those factors included the fact that:

1. Cleveland-Cliffs will not be able to unlock material synergies, the value of which might otherwise have been shared with Portman shareholders;
2. the premium to market was appropriate given that the offer fairly values Portman shares; and
3. in addition to normal transaction costs (eg. financing and advisory fees) the total acquisition cost for Cleveland-Cliffs will increase by approximately 5.4% (some 16 cents per share) because of stamp duty which is not payable in any other Australian state apart from Western Australia.

"For all of these reasons, we welcome the offer from Cleveland-Cliffs and intend to recommend that our shareholders accept it in the absence of a superior offer," Mr Jones said.

"We have commenced work on the preparation of our Target's Statement which we will be despatching to our shareholders as soon as possible. Shareholders should wait until they receive the Bidder's and Target's Statements before they take any action in relation to their Portman shares."

Cleveland-Cliffs and Portman intend to jointly despatch the Bidder's and Target's Statements within the next 14 days.

Cleveland-Cliffs will duly notify the Foreign Investment Review Board (FIRB) in Australia of its proposal to acquire Portman Limited.

Cleveland-Cliffs is being advised by Wilson HTM Corporate Finance Limited in Australia and Hill Street Capital LLC in North America.

Portman is being advised by Gresham Advisory Partners Limited.

INDICATIVE TIMETABLE

This news release contains predictive statements that are intended to be "forward-looking" within the safe harbour protections of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Although the Company believes that its forward-looking statements are based on reasonable assumptions, such statements are subject to risk and uncertainties. There can be no assurance that the offer to acquire the shares of Portman Limited will be accepted or that a superior offer will not emerge or any transaction completed. Actual results may differ materially from statements for a variety of factors, such as changes in demand and/or prices for iron ore pellets by North American integrated steel producers, or changes in Asian iron ore demand and/or pricing, due to changes in steel utilization rates, operational factors, electric furnace production or imports of semi-finished steel or pig iron (affecting estimated pellet sales, mine operations, or projected liquidity requirements); changes in the financial condition of the Company's partners and/or customers; rejection of major contracts and/or venture agreements by customers and/or participants under provisions of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code or similar statutes in other countries; events or circumstances that could impair or adversely impact the viability of a mine and the carrying value of associated assets; inability of planned capacity expansions to achieve expected additional production; increases in the cost or length of time required to complete the expansions; failure to receive required environmental permits for or otherwise implement planned capital expansions; problems with productivity, labour disputes, weather conditions, fluctuations in ore grade, tons mined, changes in cost factors including energy costs, and employee benefit costs; the success of the Company in identifying and realizing growth opportunities; the Company's ability to continue to pay quarterly cash dividends in such amounts as the Directors may determine in light of other uses for such funds; and the effect of these various risks on the Company's future cash flows, debt levels, liquidity and financial position. Reference is made to the detailed explanation of the many factors and risks that may cause such predictive statements to turn out differently, set forth in the Company's Annual Report for 2003, Reports on Form 10-K and Form 10-Q and previous news releases filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, which are publicly available on Cleveland-Cliffs' website.
