FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LIBBEY INC. PROVIDES THIRD QUARTER BUSINESS UPDATE

Lower-than-anticipated sales volume in the U.S. and China, as well as planned costs associated with capacity realignment and additional underutilization of capacity, are expected to negatively impact third quarter 2013 results

TOLEDO, OHIO, OCTOBER 15, 2013 -- Libbey Inc. (NYSE MKT: LBY) today announced that it expects revenue for the third quarter ended September 30, 2013, to be approximately $204 million and adjusted EBITDA for the quarter to be between $27 million and $29 million, which excludes the impact of a September 2013 furnace malfunction. These figures represent a decline of approximately $5 million in revenue and $9 million to $11 million in adjusted EBITDA relative to the quarter-ended September 30, 2012.

Revenue declines were primarily experienced in the retail channel of distribution in China and the U.S. and Canada and to a lesser degree in the foodservice channel of distribution in these markets. Partially offsetting these declines was strong growth in the U. S. business-to-business channel. The declines were due to softness in consumer spending and weak overall demand in these regions. U.S. and Canada revenues were also impacted by Libbey's decision to exit certain low-margin business.

The primary factors contributing to the decline in adjusted EBITDA from the prior-year quarter include:

- Underabsorption of fixed costs of approximately $5 million resulting from:
 - previously announced strategic initiatives and other planned activities of approximately $3 million as part of the capacity realignment of the Company's North American facilities;
 - roughly $1 million related to lower-than-expected capacity utilization at its U.S. facilities; and
 - Upwards of $1 million negative capacity utilization impact at its facility in China related to a planned furnace rebuild.

- An approximately $4 million negative impact as a result of revenue declines in the U.S. and China related to general softness in the business in those two geographies.

As the result of a furnace malfunction, the Company expects to record a special item in excess of $2 million during the third quarter of 2013 related to unexpected costs and underutilization of capacity at its Toledo, Ohio facility. Additionally, as a result of that furnace malfunction, Libbey anticipates that it will record a special item of approximately $4 million to $6 million in the fourth quarter of 2013 related to furnace repairs, underutilization of capacity and transportation costs. Libbey will pursue recovery of such costs under applicable insurance policies.

Libbey experienced continued revenue growth and strong operating performance in Mexico and Latin America and realized modest revenue growth in EMEA during the third quarter. Additionally, Libbey reaffirmed that it expects to generate between $7 million and $9 million in savings on an annual basis beginning in the first quarter of 2014 from the North American manufacturing capacity realignment.

Stephanie A. Streeter, Libbey's chief executive officer, commented, "While we are certainly disappointed in the impact of unexpected costs and certain challenging macroeconomic factors on our third quarter results, we are pleased with the continued progress on our Libbey 2015 plan and our team's ability to control costs despite softness in China and the U.S. We are well positioned in these markets for long-term growth as the economic environment improves and we continue to see strong results in our other high-growth markets. We will continue to focus on improving our cost structure, increasing productivity, strengthening our balance sheet and positioning the Company for profitable growth in the future."

With respect to the fourth quarter, Libbey expects to experience continued weakness in retail demand in the U.S. and Canada and in China, partially offset by revenue growth in Mexico and Latin America, modest revenue growth in the U.S. business to business channel and revenue growth in EMEA. The Company anticipates that, for the full year 2013, it will generate adjusted EBITDA margins that are very similar to the full year 2012 adjusted EBITDA margins on 2013 annual sales that are slightly less than 2012 annual sales.

The Company plans to announce earnings and discuss results for the third quarter of 2013 on October 29, 2013. In that discussion, Libbey management will share additional information on factors contributing to the third quarter and fiscal 2013. Additionally, the Company will discuss ongoing progress within its Libbey 2015 plan.
