SYKES ENTERPRISES, INCORPORATED

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
NINE MONTHS ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1998 AND 1999
(Unaudited)

Sykes Enterprises, Incorporated and consolidated subsidiaries (the "Company") provides vertically integrated information technology outsourcing services including information technology support services, information technology development services and solutions, on-line clinical managed care services, medical protocol products, employee benefit administration and support services, and customer product services. The Company's services are provided to a wide variety of industries.

This Form 10-Q/A is being filed to restate the Company's consolidated financial statements as of September 30, 1999, and for the periods then ended. The restatement of the Company's financial position and results of operations is the result of the timing of revenue recognition related to the licensing of software under two separate arrangements to periods subsequent to 1999, that were identified after the original filing of the Form 10-Q on November 15, 1999.

Sykes' recognizes revenue from software and contractually provided rights in accordance with the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants ("AICPA") Statement of Position 97-2, "Software Revenue Recognition" ("SOP 97-2"), as amended by Statement of Position 98-4, "Deferral of the Executive Date of a Provision of SOP 97-2" ("SOP 98-4"), Statement of Position 98-9, "Modification of SOP 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, With Respect to Certain Transactions" ("SOP 98-9"), as well as Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 101, "Revenue Recognition in Financial Statements" ("SAB 101"). SAB 101 is to be applied no later than the first quarter after December 15, 1999. Revenue is recognized from licenses of the Company's software products and rights when the agreement has been executed, the product or right has been delivered or provided, collectibility is probable and the software license fees or rights are fixed and determinable. Contracts that provide for multiple elements are accounted for pursuant to the above standards. If any portion of the license fees or rights is subject to forfeiture, refund or other contractual contingencies, the Company will postpone revenue recognition until these contingencies have been removed. Sykes' generally accounts for consulting services separate from software license fees for those multi-element arrangements where consulting services are a separate element and are not essential to the customer's functionality requirements and there is vendor-specific objective evidence of fair value for these services. Consulting revenue is recognized as the services are performed. Revenue from support and maintenance activities is recognized ratably over the term of the maintenance period and the unrecognized portion is recorded as deferred revenue.

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-Q. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and notes required by generally accepted accounting principles for complete financial statements. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. Operating results for the nine and three-month periods ended September 30, 1999 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending December 31, 1999. For further information, refer to the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto as of and for the year ended December 31, 1998 included in the Company's Form 10-K dated December 31, 1998 as filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 29, 1999.

NOTE 1 - ACQUISITIONS AND MERGERS

Effective September 1, 1998, the Company acquired the remaining 50% of outstanding common stock of SHPS, Incorporated ("SHPS") for approximately $28.1 million plus the assumption of SHPS' debt. This purchase price was primarily financed through borrowings under the Company's credit facility.

SYKES ENTERPRISES, INCORPORATED
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
NINE MONTHS ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1998 AND 1999

This acquisition was accounted for using the purchase method of accounting and, accordingly, the results of operations for the period September 1, 1998 to September 30, 1998 and for the nine and three months ended September 30, 1999, have been included in the accompanying financial statements. The purchase price has been allocated to the assets and liabilities of SHPS based upon fair values at the date of acquisition. The allocations were based on appraisals, evaluations, estimations and other studies.

On November 27, 1998, the Company acquired all of the stock of TAS GmbH Nord Telemarketing und Vertriebsberatung ("TAS III") of Hannover, Germany, in exchange for 587,000 shares of the Company's common stock. The Company accounted for the acquisition utilizing the pooling-of-interests method of accounting. TAS III provides technical call center support and customer care services, database development and consulting services to customers in Germany.

On December 29, 1998, the Company acquired all of the stock of Oracle Service Networks Corporation ("Oracle") in exchange for 1,475,000 shares of the Company's common stock. The Company accounted for the acquisition utilizing the pooling-of-interests method of accounting. Oracle provides call center support and customer care services to various customers in North America, as well as demand management services for the Canadian provincial health care system.

On August 20, 1999, the Company acquired all of the common stock of CompuHelpline, Inc., d/b/a PC Answer for approximately $340,000 of cash and Company stock. PC Answer was engaged in developing, marketing and selling prepaid technical computer support cards and services under the trademark names of PC Answer and MAC Answer. The transaction was accounted for under the purchase method of accounting with resulting goodwill being amortized over a ten-year life. Pro forma information is not presented as the operating results are not material to the Company's consolidated operations.

Effective August 31, 1999, the Company acquired all the common stock of Acer Servicios De Informacion Sociedad Anonima ("AIS") of San Jose, Costa Rica for $6.0 million in cash. AIS operates an information technology call center and provides technical support and services to customers in North America and Central America. The transaction was accounted for under the purchase method of accounting with resulting goodwill being amortized over a ten-year life. Pro forma information is not presented as the operating results are not material to the Company's consolidated operations.

The above transactions, excluding SHPS, PC Answer and AIS, have been accounted for as pooling-of-interests and, accordingly, the consolidated financial statements for the periods presented have been restated to include the accounts of TAS III and Oracle. Separate results of operations for the period prior to the mergers with TAS III and Oracle are outlined below.

(1) The Company has restated its financial statements for both the three and nine-month periods ended September 30, 1998, respectively, to reflect the methodology as set forth in a September 15, 1998 letter from the SEC Staff to the AICPA regarding acquired in-process research and development charges. This letter set forth the SEC's views regarding the valuation methodology to be used in allocating a portion of the purchase price to acquired in-process research and development at the date of acquisition. As a result of the revised valuation, the Company's financial statements for the nine months ended September 30, 1998 have been restated to reduce the amount of acquired in-process research and development charges incurred by SHPS, and the resulting impact on the Company's proportionate share of the adjustment.

NOTE 2 - COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company from time to time is involved in legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. With respect to these matters, management believes that it has adequate legal defenses and/or provided adequate accruals for related costs such that the ultimate outcome will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's future financial position.

NOTE 3 - ACCUMULATED OTHER COMPREHENSIVE INCOME

Effective January 1, 1998 the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 130 "Reporting Comprehensive Income" which requires all items that are required to be recognized under accounting standards as components of comprehensive income be reported in the financial statements. The components of other comprehensive income are as follows:

	Foreign Currency Translation -----	Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income -----
Balance at December 31, 1998	$(1,407,760)	$(1,407,760)

Earnings associated with the Company's investment in its foreign subsidiaries are considered to be permanently invested and no provision for United States federal and state income taxes on those earnings or translation adjustments has been provided.

NOTE 4 - EARNINGS PER SHARE

Basic earnings per share is based on the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the periods. Diluted earnings per share includes the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the respective periods and the further dilutive effect, if any, from stock options using the treasury stock method.

The numbers of shares used in the earnings per share computation are as follows:

ITEM 2 - MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The following should be read in conjunction with the Sykes Enterprises, Incorporated (the "Company") December 31, 1998 Consolidated Financial Statements, including the notes thereto. The following discussion and analysis contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Future events and the Company's actual results could differ materially from the results reflected in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain of the factors set forth below and elsewhere in this analysis.

FINANCIAL CONDITION

The Company's primary sources of liquidity are equity offerings, cash flows from operations and available borrowings under its credit facility. The Company has utilized these sources to make additional capital expenditures associated primarily with its technical support services, to repay debt associated with entities it has acquired, and for working capital and general corporate purposes. In addition, the Company intends future uses of its sources of liquidity to include the aforementioned and possible additional acquisitions. The Company invests any excess funds in short-term, investment-grade securities or money market instruments.

During the nine-month period ended September 30, 1999, the Company generated approximately $34.0 million in cash from operations. The Company utilized these funds and certain of its available cash and credit facility to fund approximately $43.8 million of capital expenditures. The capital expenditures were predominately the result of facility and capital equipment expenditures incurred in connection with the integration and expansion of the Company's technical support and e-commerce services.

The Company believes that its accessible funds under its credit facilities and cash flows from operations will be adequate to meet its continued expansion objectives, anticipated levels of capital expenditures and debt repayment requirements, including those that may be required pursuant to the integration of its acquisitions, for the foreseeable future.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

NINE MONTHS ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1999, COMPARED TO NINE MONTHS ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1998

For the nine months ended September 30, 1999, the Company recorded consolidated revenues of $411.5 million, an increase of $84.4 million or 25.8%, from the $327.1 million of consolidated revenues for the comparable period during 1998. This growth in revenue was the result of a $113.3 million or 60.4% increase in technical support services, an increase of $4.3 million from customer product services, offset by a decrease of $33.2 million from information technology services and solutions.

The increase in information technology support services revenues was primarily attributable to an increase in the number of IT call centers providing services throughout the period and the resultant increase in call volumes from clients, and the inclusion of SHPS' revenue generated for the entire nine months ended September 30, 1999. The new IT call centers were required as a result of continued growth of technical support services from both e-commerce and traditional telephone support customers.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Subsequent to the first nine months of 1998, the Company opened four domestic and one international IT call centers, acquired an international IT call center, and expanded its call center in Sveg, Sweden. The increase in customer product services revenue for the nine months ended September 30, 1999 was primarily attributable to the Company's e-commerce initiatives. The decrease in information technology services and solutions revenues was attributable to a decrease in license fees and royalties associated with the Company's technology applications, a decline in the number of hours billed to customers for consulting services partially offset by an increase in the average bill rate, and to a decline in language translation and localization services, when compared to the comparable period in 1998.

Direct salaries and related costs increased approximately $62.0 million or 30.6% to $264.7 million for the nine-month period in 1999 from the comparable period in 1998. As a percentage of revenues, direct salaries and related costs increased to approximately 64.3% in 1999 from approximately 62.0% for the comparable period in 1998. The increase in both the dollar amount and percentage of direct salaries and related costs as a percentage of revenue was primarily related to the addition of personnel to support the revenue growth and associated employee benefit and training costs.

General and administrative expenses increased approximately $28.0 million or 32.4% to $114.4 million for the nine-month period in 1999 from the comparable period in 1998. As a percentage of revenues, general and administrative expenses increased to 27.8% in 1999 from 26.4% for the comparable period in 1998. The increase in the amount of general and administrative expenses was primarily attributable to an increase in depreciation expenses associated with facility and capital equipment expenditures incurred in connection with the integration and expansion of the Company's technical support and e-commerce services, an increase in amortization expense associated with the goodwill incurred as part of the SHPS acquisition and to a lesser extent, the addition of sales and administrative personnel to support the Company's growth.

As part of the original ownership and subsequent acquisition of the remaining outstanding shares of SHPS, the Company determined that the technical feasibility of SHPS' in-process technology had not been established and a portion of the technology had no alternative use. Therefore, the Company recorded a charge of approximately $14.5 million related to the write-off of the acquired in-process research and development during the quarter ended September 30, 1998.

Interest and other expense was $2.4 million during the first nine months of 1999, compared to $4.2 million during the comparable 1998 period, inclusive of a $3.9 million net loss from joint venture. The net loss from the joint venture was attributable to acquisition-related in-process research and development costs associated with acquisitions completed by the joint venture, which was recorded as other expense. The increase in interest and other expense for the nine-month period exclusive of the net loss from joint venture was primarily attributable to an increase in the Company's debt position as a result of the acquisition of SHPS completed during 1998.

The provision for income taxes decreased $2.6 million to $11.6 million for the nine-month period in 1999 from the comparable period in 1998. As a percentage of revenues, the provision for income taxes increased to 2.8% during the 1999 period when contrasted to approximately 4.3% for the comparable 1998 period. The Company's effective tax rate was 38.7% for 1999 compared to 37.1% for the comparable 1998 period, excluding the effect of one-time charges, primarily as a result of non-deductible expenses which consisted primarily of goodwill amortization.

THREE MONTHS ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1999, COMPARED TO THREE MONTHS ENDED
SEPTEMBER 30, 1998

For the three months ended September 30, 1999, the Company recorded consolidated revenues of $141.0 million, an increase of $22.7 million or 19.1%, from the $118.3 million of consolidated revenues for the comparable period during 1998. This growth in revenue was the result of a $29.5 million or 40.0% increase in technical support services, and an increase of $2.4 million from customer product services, offset by a decrease of $9.2 million from information technology services and solutions.

The increase in information technology support services revenues was primarily attributable to an increase in the number of IT call centers providing services throughout the period and the resultant increase in call volumes from clients, and the inclusion of SHPS' revenue generated for the entire third quarter of 1999. Subsequent to the third quarter of 1998, the Company opened four domestic and one international IT call centers, acquired an international IT call center, and expanded its call center in Sveg, Sweden. The increase in customer product services revenue for the three months ended September 30, 1999 was primarily attributable to the Company's e-commerce initiatives. The decrease in information technology services and solutions revenues was attributable to a decrease in license fees and royalties associated with the Company's technology applications, a decline in the number of hours billed to customers for consulting services partially offset by an increase in the average bill rate, and to a decline in language translation and localization services, when compared to the comparable period in 1998.

Direct salaries and related costs increased approximately $19.7 million or 27.1% to $92.5 million for the three-month period in 1999 from the comparable period in 1998. As a percentage of revenues, direct salaries and related costs increased to approximately 65.6% in 1999 from approximately 61.5% for the comparable period in 1998. The increase in both the dollar amount and percentage of direct salaries and related costs as a percentage of revenue was primarily related to the addition of personnel to support the revenue growth and associated employee benefit and training costs.

General and administrative expenses increased approximately $9.0 million or 28.9% to $40.4 million for the three-month period in 1999 from the comparable period in 1998. As a percentage of revenues, general and administrative expenses increased to 28.6% in 1999 from 26.5% for the comparable period in 1998. The increase in the amount of general and administrative expenses was primarily attributable to an increase in depreciation expenses associated with facility and capital equipment expenditures incurred in connection with the integration and expansion of the Company' technical support and e-commerce services, an increase in amortization expense associated with the goodwill incurred as part of the SHPS acquisition and to a lesser extent, the addition of sales and administrative personnel to support the Company's growth.

As part of the original ownership and subsequent acquisition of the remaining outstanding shares of SHPS, the Company determined that the technical feasibility of SHPS' in-process technology had not been established and a portion of the technology had no alternative use. Therefore, the Company recorded a charge of approximately $14.5 million related to the write-off of the acquired in-process research and development during the quarter ended September 30, 1998.

Interest and other expense was $1.0 million during the three-month period of 1999, compared to interest and other expense of $0.5 million during the comparable 1998 period. The increase in interest and other expense for the three-month period was primarily attributable to an increase in the Company's debt position as a result of the acquisition of SHPS completed during 1998.

The provision for income taxes decreased $2.6 million to $2.8 million for the three-month period in 1999 from the comparable period in 1998. As a percentage of revenues, the provision for income taxes decreased to 2.0% during the 1999 period when contrasted to approximately 4.5% for the comparable 1998 period. The decrease was attributable to the decrease of income before income taxes and to a decrease in income before income taxes as a percentage of revenues, exclusive of the approximately $14.5 million charge associated with the write-off of acquired in-process research and development. The Company's effective tax rate was 38.8% for the quarter ended September 30, 1999 compared to 37.6% for the comparable 1998 period, primarily as a result of non-deductible expenses which consisted primarily of goodwill amortization.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURE

The Company's earnings and cash flows are subject to fluctuations due to changes in foreign currency exchange rates. Movements in foreign currency exchange rates may affect the Company's competitive position, as exchange rate changes may affect business practices and/or pricing strategies of non-United States based competitors. Under its current policy, the Company does not use foreign exchange derivative instruments to manage its exposure to changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

YEAR 2000

Introduction

The Year 2000 issue is the result of some computer software programs being written using two digits rather than four to define the applicable year. As a result of this design decision, some of these systems could fail to produce correct results if "00" is interpreted to mean 1900, rather than 2000. To the extent the Company's software applications contain source codes that are unable to appropriately interpret the calendar year 2000, some level of modification or even possibly replacement of such applications was necessary.

Description of Areas of Impact and Risk

During late 1997, the Company initiated the process of reviewing its existing software programs to determine the potential exposure and amount of resources that was needed to become Year 2000 compliant. Based on this review, the Company has experienced very few problems related to Year 2000 testing and those identified have been resolved in the Company's day-to-day operations.

The Company initiated formal communications with all of its significant suppliers and large customers to determine the extent to which the Company's interface systems are vulnerable to those third parties' failure to remediate their own Year 2000 issues. In the event any third parties cannot timely provide the Company with contents, products, services or systems that meet Year 2000 requirements, the Company's services could be materially adversely affected. The Company continues to solicit, receive and renew responses to surveys sent to those third parties determined to be material to the operations of the Company to determine their Year 2000 readiness. For those critical third parties that have failed to respond to the Company's survey, the Company has pursued alternative means of obtaining Y2K readiness information and is conducting reviews of publicly available information published by such third parties.

The Company completed its Year 2000 testing and modifications during September 1999 and continues to monitor its internal systems and suppliers to ensure ongoing compliance.

Cost of Project

The total cost of the Year 2000 project is estimated at approximately $1.2 million and is being funded through operating cash flows. To date, the Company has incurred and expensed approximately $1.0 million related to this project. Such cost is not expected to have a material effect on the Company's results of operations.

The remaining costs to become Year 2000 compliant and the date on which the Company believes it will complete all Year 2000 modifications are based on management's best estimates, which were derived utilizing numerous assumptions of future events, including the continued availability of certain resources, third party modification plans and other factors. However, there can be no assurance that these estimates will be achieved and actual results could differ materially from those anticipated. Specific factors that might cause such material differences include, but are not limited to, the availability and cost of personnel trained in this area, availability of corrective software provided by external suppliers, the ability to locate and correct all relevant computer codes and similar uncertainties.

Most Likely Consequences of Year 2000 Problems

In a recent Securities and Exchange Commission release regarding Year 2000 disclosure, the Commission stated that public companies must disclose the most likely worst case Year 2000 scenario. Although it is not possible to assess the likelihood of any of the following events, each must be included in a consideration of worst case scenarios: widespread failure of electrical and similar supplies serving the Company; widespread disruption of the services provided by common communications' carriers; similar disruption to the means and modes of transportation for the Company and its employees, suppliers, and customers; significant disruption to the Company's ability to gain access to, and remain working in, office buildings and other facilities; the failure of substantial numbers of the Company's customers' and its suppliers' critical computer hardware and software systems, and the failure of outside entities' systems, including systems related to banking and finance.

Contingency Plan

The company has substantially completed developing contingency plans to be implemented if its efforts to identify and correct Year 2000 Problems affecting its internal systems are not effective. The Company's contingency plans were substantially complete as of September 30, 1999. Depending on the systems affected, these plans could include accelerated replacement of affected equipment or software, short-to-medium-term use of alternate sites, equipment and software, increased work hours for Company personnel or use of contract personnel. If the Company is required to implement any of these contingency plans, it could have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition and results of operations.
