General Rules of Engagement

---

Date : July 26, 2016
To : Global LogMeIn Employees
From : Michael Donahue
Subject : General Employee Communications Guidelines

---

As you are aware, we announced today that LogMeIn has entered into a definitive merger agreement to combine with Citrix's GoTo family of products. Today marks a momentous day in LogMeIn history. It is also an event that will likely raise a number of questions from our customers and employees.

It is important to reiterate that the announcement will have no impact on our day-to-day operations and it remains business as usual.

General Communications Policy

As you familiarize yourself with the materials that have become available to you, please keep in mind:

- While we are incredibly excited about the transformative nature of the transaction for LogMeIn, it is important to remember that until the transaction closes we remain independent companies and competitors. The transaction is expected to be completed in the first quarter of 2017, and until that time we will remain solely focused on achieving our independent objectives. As such, there should be no communication, coordination or sharing of information with any GoTo employees until after the close of the transaction. In addition, no one should communicate that the GoTo and LogMeIn act as one, or that the transaction is a done deal.
- While you will undoubtedly have conversations with individuals outside LogMeIn regarding the transaction, it is important that only designated company executives or spokespeople speak publicly or communicate externally about this transaction on the company's behalf. If you are asked to comment on the transaction by an analyst or member of the press, please be sure that you and your teams refer any outside inquiries to Craig VerColen. If you are asked to comment on the transaction by an investor, shareholder or banker, please be sure that you and your teams refer any outside inquiries to Rob Bradley.

- The completion of the transaction is subject to the receipt of certain regulatory approvals and other customary closing conditions, and requires the approval of LogMeIn shareholders. You should not comment on, or speculate about this process, likely agency reactions or outcomes.
  - Internal and external-facing materials created pertaining to the merger (e.g. emails, PowerPoint, online chats) may be subject to regulatory review and filing with the SEC. We ask you to exercise extremely good judgment.

Social Media Policy:

All employees are expected to adhere to LogMeIn's existing social media policy (attached) as it relates to discussion about the transaction on the various public platforms/forums.

As it pertains to this proposed merger:

- Overall social media communications related to this proposed merger will be handled by Corporate Communications.
- Please feel free to share posts/links that LogMeIn has publicly made available (e.g. posts from LogMeIn's social channels) but please refrain from speculating about the transaction or adding commentary. Please feel free to share third-party posts on the news (e.g. media coverage), but likewise, please refrain from speculating about the transaction or adding commentary.
- Please refrain from speculating about the transaction, details, or internal processes or operations, or adding personal opinion or commentary.
- If you come across any perceived inaccurate information or portrayals of the transaction, please reach out to Corporate Communications and do not respond publicly.
- It is important to remember that misuse of social media can cause potential harm to LogMeIn, our customers and you as an employee who has agreed to comply with the provisions set forth in the Employee Handbook, the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics and the LogMeIn Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure Agreement.

Should you have any questions on the above rules of engagement, please do not hesitate to contact your manager and/or Legal. Thank you for your help and support as we move forward with this exciting combination.
