SANDELL ASSET MANAGEMENT RESPONDS TO LETTER FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF SEMGROUP CORPORATION

Disappointed In Company's Predictable Response, Which Commits to 'Status Quo' Despite Share Price Underperformance, Growing M&A Opportunity and Seismic Changes in Global Energy Markets

Believes Intrinsic Value of up to $104/Share, Will Consider Range of Options to Realize Value

NEW YORK (January 28, 2015) –

Sandell Asset Management Corp. ("Sandell"), a shareholder of SemGroup Corporation ("SEMG", "SemGroup" or the "Company") (NYSE: SEMG), has issued the following statement in response to the Company's open letter issued by the Board of Directors of SEMG (the "Board"):

"We have reviewed your response to our letter dated January 26th and, frankly, are disappointed (but perhaps not surprised) that you have chosen to answer our concerns not with a thoughtful, considered response but instead seemingly with what your lawyers have advised you to say to 'thwart' an activist investor. We believe this kind of canned reply further justifies our previous decision to go public with our views. It is now clear, in our view, that the Board's 'continual review of the Company's strategic priorities and opportunities' has not at all evolved to current market condition which has seen disproportionate declines in the share price of SEMG (and its MLP), sharp weakening in the global energy markets and growing M&A activity.

Simply put, taking a 'status quo' approach places the Company out of step with other industry players who have quickly adapted to the current market environment, highlighting the risk that shareholders will not realize the intrinsic value of their SEMG shares. This risk is primarily driven by the Company's smaller market capitalization and lower liquidity profile as investors, we believe, have migrated to larger, more liquid comparable companies with investment grade balance sheets and access to cheap debt and equity capital.

We are specifically disturbed by your comment that 'the Board does not intend to pursue actions that do not create additional value for its stockholders or would be harmful to the businesses.' First, as shareholders, the true owners of the Company, it goes without saying that we do not want the Board to pursue actions that do not create additional value for SEMG shares – it is absurd to suggest otherwise.

Second, what we have suggested would in no way be 'harmful to the business,' and the use of these scare-tactics serves no constructive purpose, in our view. In fact, we believe that in the hands of a large investment grade acquirer, SEMG's business would be positioned to grow faster with better access to capital and lower tax rates. One need only look to the example of Kinder Morgan's acquisition of Hiland Partners, in which case Kinder Morgan specifically states that they intend to retain all employees, maintain Hiland Partners' significant presence in Oklahoma and aggressively grow the business. We see no reason that the same preservation of jobs and the business overall would not be true for any acquisition of SEMG. It seems to us that the only 'harm' that may come in an acquisition is to the redundant Board and certain members of the management team.

We continue to believe that there is considerable intrinsic value in SEMG shares and will continue to proactively monitor the actions of the Board and management to unlock this value. As we have stated before, we believe that the best way for the Company to realize its true intrinsic value is through the review of strategic alternatives including the sale of the Company. Moreover, based on our conversations, we believe many of our fellow shareholders would agree with us. And we believe you would also hear similar sentiments if you engaged directly with your shareholders, the true owners of the Company.

Finally, we would like to remind the Board that the charter and by-laws of the Company give the power to shareholders to act by written consent without a meeting as well as the ability to remove directors with or without cause. These provisions give shareholders the ability to remove and replace one, some or all of SEMG's directors at any time with a simple majority consent. If forced to, we will not hesitate to use this shareholder tool to uphold the will of the shareholders, the true owners of the Company."
